LOVE MUCH.

Love much. Earth has enough of bitter in it. Cast sweets into its cup whenever you can. No heart so hard but Love at last may win it. Love is the grand primeval cause of man. All hate is foreign to the first great plan.

Love much. Your heart will be led out to slaughter. On alters built of envy and deceit. Love on, love on 'tis bread upon the water. It shall be cast in loaves yet at your feet. Unleavened manna, most divinely sweet.

Love much. Your faith be dethroned and shaken. Your trust betrayed by many a fair false lure. Remount your faith, and let new trusts awaken. Though clouds obscure them, yet the stars are pure. Love is a vital force and must endure.

Love much. Men's souls contract with suspicion. Shine on them with warm love, and they expand. 'Tis love, not creeds, that from a low condition Leads mankind up to heights supreme and grand. Oh, that the world could see and understand!

Love much. There is no waste in freely giving. More blessed is it even than to receive. He who loves much, alone finds life worth living. Love on, through doubt and darkness, and believe. There is no thing which Love may not achieve.

—Ella W. Wilcox.

WASHINGTON RANGLINGS.

Affairs and Workings of the People About the Nation's Capital.

May 27th.—Secretary Elkins made the most important political statement of the week when he said that Secretary Blaine had repeatedly told the President and himself, since he wrote the letter to Chairman Clarkson, that he would not accept the nomination if it was tendered him. Chairman Clarkson, to whom the statement was made, still says that, although he has not heard directly from Mr. Blaine since he received his declining to become a candidate for the nomination, he has reasons of his own for believing that Mr. Blaine would not refuse the nomination if it should be made by such an overwhelming majority as to indicate that the party believed his nomination necessary to Republican success. It is noticeable, and certainly an indication of success whoever is nominated at Minneapolis, that the best of feeling exists between those who wish to nominate Mr. Blaine and those who think the President entitled to the nomination.

The presence of so many prominent Republicans has filled Washington with political rumors of all sorts, one of the most interesting of which is, that one of the objects of Secretary Blaine's visit to New York, this week, was to get Gen. Horace Porter, who has recently added fresh laurels to his fame by infusing new life into the Grant Monument Association and making it certain that the money to build the monument will be in sight by Memorial day, to agree to present the name of the President to the National Convention. That Mr. Blaine personally desires the President to be nominated is certain, and it would be just such a thing as only such a big hearted man as Mr. Blaine could do to ask Gen. Porter to make the nominating speech.

The majority of the Democratic members of the House found the pressure too great for them to stand, so they voted in a Democratic caucus to shelve the anti-union bill and give the appropriation bills the right-of-way in the House, notwithstanding the prospect of Mr. Hatch, Chairman of the Committee on Agriculture, who spoke of the almost unanimous desire among the farmers for passage of the anti-union bill. Mr. Hatch and other supporters of the bill threaten to filibuster for the purpose of getting it before the House, but it is not thought that they will dare to try to upset the decree of a party caucus.

Secretary Pettigrew wants the Senate to adopt an amendment appropriating $40,000 for the continuance of experiments in the artificial production of rain.

Chairman Clarkson and other members of the National Committee left here today for Chicago, where a meeting of the Executive Committee is to be held previous to the full Convention, which will be held at Minneapolis on June 4, to complete arrangements for the meeting of the Convention on the 7th. Mr. Clarkson thinks there will be several ballots before a TRUE FRIENDS.

[By CLYDE TAYLOR, PRENTISS, KY.]

When God made the world He made every living creature a friend. When the Flood came to destroy the wickedness of the world, and the creatures that were to be saved marched into the ark. There was not one who went in alone, but close by his side marched his true friend, and it is the desire of every young lady and gentleman, boy or girl, to possess a true friend. The storm tossed earth is far too rough for one to bear it alone. The kind of friends we want is true friends. One who will share the clouds as it were the sunshine, one that will visit you in trouble the same as in pleasure, one that will administer to your wants in sickness the same as in health, one who will sympathize with you in all your troubles, let them be great or small, to the little child, mother is its true friend.

Only reflect back over the past a few short years when we were but very small children and remember it was a true friend, mother, who kissed the matted hair and bathed the tired little feet and sympathized with all our troubles, but as babyhood days were fleeting we soon recalled our school days and I found we needed a true friend. Then must and will be some with whom you are more intimate than with the rest of your companions.

There are two special difficulties attending friendship. First, it is acquiring a real friend. It is still harder to keep him acquainted, which is afterward refined into friendship, is of course casual and they who are first to extend the hand to embrace you are seldom those whose friendship continues long. Be cautious in selecting your friend and look long and well before you allow anyone to say he is your bosom friend, and that you share each other's thoughts and secrets. In selecting your friends be careful, sweet language will multiply friends, and a fair speaking tongue will multiply kind greetings, he in peace with many, nevertheless, have but one counselor in a thousand.

"For many are the friends, but few that are true." When womanhood years have come and gone, and childhood days seem but a dream, and the evening of life tells us the time draws near when the association with friends on earth will be no more; then beyond the golden sunset, I hope to find waiting and waiting for me a true friend.

SULPHUR SPRINGS.

Some of our farmers have almost despaired making a full crop this year. Wheat and grass never looked better in this section, too wet for clover, a great deal of corn not planted. Some that was planted early is getting quite weedy.

Mr. J. W. Petty is quite sick of consumption. The doctors pronounce her in the last stage of that dread disease. Thomas Barrett, of Barretts Ferry, is in his fifth week with typhoid fever. It is thought to be a little better.

Mr. Belle Cook, of Daviess county, is at her father's, J. W. Magan, sick. I understand she is improving. With these exceptions the health is splendid so far as I know.

Our merchants are all having a booming business. The railroad from Fordville to Horse Branch is an assured certainty, work will begin at once I am told. The railroad company bought Capt Davidson's farm this week, to get the right-of-way, and perhaps some other little things that might be there. The railroad will cross Rough River at the mouth of Caney.

Who Has a Bog Spavin?

Mr. G. W. Dugan, of Danville, Kentucky, remarks: "The Quinns' Ointment you sent me has removed a large Bog Spavin and gave perfect satisfaction." This remedy is worth many times its price and will remove blemishes for which you would gladly pay fifty dollars.

FALLS OF ROUGH.

May 25th. Tan bark peeling is now over and most of the men have gone to their homes. Farmers are busy planting corn. Mr. Stuart and his son, who have been here hauling tan-bark for Mr. Bond, returned to their homes last Monday, near Hartford.

My attention was called last week, to an article in your paper signed Reformer, in which he says the people never did expect any relief from the Republican Party, because they never promised to relieve them. Now Mr. Reformer, are you not aware of the fact that our laborers than any nation under the sun, and that under a Republican Government, more laborers own their homes than they occupy, than any Foreign Nation. It is not a necessity that both old parties unite together in order to defeat the so-called People's Party, for neither is sufficient within itself.

We have showers of men here, who once belonged to the so-called People's Party, but they have quit the new Party and come back to the old Parties as Paul and Silas did to the Philippians: "Crying what shall we do to be re-instate back in the old Parties." We will gladly receive the back into the fold, as they have had their eyes teeth out and had their robes washed white.

Times are better here, as last year was a good crop year and times would have been considerably better had it not been for the storm is sum of money taken out of the country by the so-called People's Party in the way of initiation fees and quarterly fees. The Third Party covers of the old back in Iowa a portion of both old Parties, for you show an office seeker that has been planning how to ride into office for several years and I will show you a Third Party man. In August, 1891, the people of Gay on county elected the Hon. Charles D. Biss, as a Delegate to the Constitutional Convention, he claimed to possess all the Third Party principles and travel all the gates under the sun. The very first thing that the Hon. "Charles" did, was to vote for a lawyer at the next, when the party met to nominate a candidate, they nominated a lawyer. If there is a party that believes in putting all the money in the hands of the few it is the Peoples Party.

If there is a party that believes in taking the surplus change out of the country, it is the Third Party. If there is a party that believes in nominating lawyers, it is the Third Party. It has been claimed by some of the third party men, that it was the intention of the People's Party to divide the wealth of the country among all the people equally, thus depriving the hard laboring man of a part of the few dollars he has accumulated by the sweat of his brow. I appeal to the good farmers and laborers and ask them to ask themselves if they have ever derived any benefit from the money they have paid out in the Third Party.

OWENSBORO.

May 29.—Ah, Mr. Printers, what a mistake you made me make. It was Edgar Wade, son of Henry Wade, Rockport, instead of Henry Hale, and it was W. A. Guenther. Mr. McCuen, of Fordville, has also accepted a position at the same house. We think there is some attraction at Owensboro for that young gentleman.

D. L. Smith and daughter, Miss Anthea, will take in Decoration at No Creek to-morrow. C. M. Barnett went to Beda after his family yesterday. They will arrive in Owensboro today, to make their future home. Oh, what a grand time they will have at old Hartford this week. How my mind goes back to a Commencement I attended three years and years ago. I think Hartford has the best school in Western Kentucky. I advise all young people to attend school at that place.

COMMENCEMENT is grand.

TOM PETT is making things very interesting in the Second District Congressional race.

If this Democratic Congress keeps on, the only (s)cent left in the Treasury will be a bad smell.

THE attempt of a certain class of Democratic politicians to estrange Blaine and Harrison has so far failed.

"HELL on Wheels at Syracuse," is what the Courier-Journal calls the recent Cleveland Democratic Convention in New York.

JOHN LOWLOW, the veteran showman and genial gentleman, was with John Robinson at Beaver Dam the 25th, ult. He is the originator of the well known and popular expression, "Bring on another boss."

WINDS and floods continue to do their desolating work. Kansas has been visited by dreadful cyclones, the lower Mississippi country by floods, both of which have destroyed many lives and much property.

THE State Teachers' Association at Paducah June 28, 29 and 30 promises to be a very interesting affair. The railroads charge one fare for the round trip, and the hotels give reduced rates. It is very greatly to be desired that a number of our teachers attend. We should be glad that Ohio county be represented in that meeting by at least a dozen of our most energetic teachers.

JOHN G. WARRICK, who has been slashing around in the seat in Congress that McKinley once filled, has been put in a district with something over 2,000 Republican plurality, and he ingloriously lies down and declines to make the race for re-election. When McKinley was put in a district with Warrick with 2,000 Democratic plurality he ran for re-election and cut down the normal Democratic plurality over 2,000.

EVERY intelligent citizen who has occasion to pass over our public roads must necessarily be driven to the conclusion that our present system of road-working is a miserable failure. Nothing but a judicious system, based on taxation, will every remedy the present condition of things. Such an arrangement would be less expensive to the people and at the same time give them better roads. By all means let us have our public highways worked by taxation. If any one refuses to believe these things, let him take a trip over the road from here to Beaver Dam and be convinced.

Courtesy in Politics.

Nearly everybody will agree with "Bob" in the following pointed paragraph: Politics are all very well in their way, but don't you think they ought to be forgotten when a question of courtesy is involved? A week or so ago, when the President of the United States came here to lay the corner stone of the Grant monument, the governor of the State did not order out the troops to be his escort. Now, it don't make a particle of difference what the politics of a President is after he is in. He occupies the highest position in the land, and due respect should be shown him. It don't make any difference whether he is the Government or the silver bill, but it does make a difference as to who was the politer man. New York has a good many reasons to be ashamed of itself, and this is one of them.

Children's Day.

The Shinkle Chapel, Washington and No Creek Sunday Schools will observe Children's Day at No Creek (Wesley Chapel) church on the second Sunday in June. The following is the program:

Opening address—B. S. Chamberlain, Superintendent. Address of Welcome—R. D. Lashbrook. The value of Sunday Schools—Prof. L. C. Hoover. Temperance—J. D. Chapman. Recitation by the children—Connection of Parents with Sunday School—J. A. Park. Education—R. D. Lashbrook. Dinner. Essay—Mrs. Annie Wallace. Address to the children—J. C. Park. Recession. Miscellaneous addresses and closing exercises. Other Sunday Schools are cordially invited. Dinner will be furnished on the ground. All come and bring your basket.

I regret very much that I failed to fill my appointment at that place last Sunday. I had made previous arrangements for a boat to cross over Rough River on that occasion, and when I got to the river Sunday on my way to fill that appointment, the boat was gone, hence I could not cross over.

ROCHESTER.

Decoration day was duly observed by Joseph S. Wilson Post G. A. R. to-day. As per previous arrangements the graves of the Federal and Confederate dead at the country graveyards adjacent to Rochester, were decorated by the comrades on their way here. Closing Exercises of Hartford College and Business Institute, May 30 to June 3, '92.

A BRIEF SUMMARY OF THE WORK.

WAYLAND ALEXANDER, PH. D.

The last week of the session of 1891-92 opened with flattering prospects for the most interesting week's exercises ever held in the whole history of the institution and the work has fully satisfied the highest hopes of the teachers and pupils.

DAILY PROGRAMME. The daily exercises were excellent and for the most part well attended. The week was opened by the class in History of Philosophy under Dr. Alexander; Geometry and Ray's Algebra, J. W. Lytle. Beginning Grammar and Book-keeping, William Foster. These classes have done good work and the exercises of the day were interesting and enjoyable. The progress made has been such as to encourage the pupils and to cause a thrill of pleasure to pervade the bosoms of these energetic and faithful educators.

Tuesday's exercises consisted of exposition*work by the class in Robinson's Arithmetic, Dr. Alexander, Ray's Arithmetic and Natural Philosophy, J. W. Lytle, Surveying, Wm. Foster. The careful and accurate training these young people have had enabled them to present their attainments in the most creditable manner that could be desired. These classes have been given practical training,

WILLIAM FOSTER, JR., A. B.

Prof. Foster's class having made several very satisfactory surveys. Wednesday's programme was excellent. Dr. Alexander brought out a class in a favorite study, Grammar, J. W. Lytle, his class in Olney's Algebra, and Wm. Foster, Botany. Nothing could have been more satisfactory than the showing made by these classes. In the evening the first division of the class in Rhetoric, under Dr. Alexander delivered orations. To say that they were good, is to put it mildly, to say that they were excellent, is but to bestow praise where praise is due, whether we speak of

MISS KATIE COOMBES, PH. B.

Anna Fogle's presentation of Here We Are, or G. D. Westerfield's Country Life, or Maimee Ross's reflections on Duty, or Elva Morton's Queen Elizabeth, or W. E. Morton's Queen People, or Ida Ronder's Self-reliance, or Hugh Bailey's account of Poor Boys, or Oma Westerfield's Roger Williams, or Robert Nelson's thoughts on Perseverance, or Fannie Ham's tribute to Labor, or Sallie Quisenberry's Maid of Orleans, or P. L. Berkshire's biography of James A. Garfield. All were excellent and the ringing rounds of applause that followed the young orators to their seats, testified to the appreciation of the large audience of attentive listeners.

Thursday Dr. Alexander's class in U. S. History, Prof. J. W. Lytle's class in that interesting study, Civil Government, and Prof. Wm. Foster's class in Latin, presented a very interesting programme.

Thursday evening the second division of the class in Rhetoric delivered their orations. As on the previous evening a large and appreciative audience gathered in College Hall to hear what the young people had to say, and they were amply rewarded for their coming, in the excellence of the pieces delivered. This is the way they came and what they talked about: L. Truman—Fortune Favors the Industrious, James R. McAfee—St. Paul, Lula Johnson—Good Name, the Immediate Jewel of the Soul, Ben C. Gibson—Big I and Little You, Sallie Davidson—Our Ship is Upon the Ocean, M. P. Kimbley—Honorable at the Bridge, Mabel Hubbard—Good Society, What Is It? Silas Tichenor—Heroism, Bortha Felix—The Will and the Way, Emma Williams—The Present is Ours, Eva Pirtle—Up and Down, James L. Brown—Patriotism, Lula Milligan—Twenty Years Hence. It was a treat to hear them. To-day Dr. Alexander's class in Psychology, one of the best in school, and Rhetoric, J. W. Lytle, Analytical Geometry, Wm. Foster, Elocution and Astronomy. The work in all the classes has been of the very best and their exhibitions will be thorough and complete.

ORATORICAL CONTEST. While the entire programme has been exceedingly interesting, while the people have manifested a deeper concern for the success of the exercises of Commencement than ever before, it is but just to say that the distinguishing and absorbing event of the week was the Oratorical Contest on Monday night between the members of the Scientific, Philosophic and Classic Departments. Not only has it created an interest here at Hartford among the friends of the contestants, but it has been aroused all over the country among those who are friends to education and who love to witness the friction of mind. People from nearly all the neighboring towns, from Owensboro and Louisville were in attendance and testified to the superior excellence of the entertainment.

WILLIAM H. BARNES.

A large crowd gathered in Court Hall and at 8 o'clock, Dr. Alexander announced that Rev. R. D. Bennett would lead in prayer. The audience rose and with bowed heads listened to the eloquent words of this holy man of God as he earnestly pleaded that much good might come of the contest then pending.

The following young ladies and gentlemen, Misses Eva Morton, Eva Pirtle, Sallie Crawford, Carrie Werner, soprano; Misses Ida and Verda Duke, alto; Messrs. R. Foster and L. M. Renter, tenor; Wm. Foster, Jr. and D. E. Thomas, bass, then delivered the chorus, "The Mountain Miner's Song," which was very beautiful and highly enjoyed. This class is a collection of beauty, chivalry and musical talent scarcely ever surpassed. Judge J. C. Johnson, Calhoun, Judge J. Allen Dean, Owensboro, and Hon. E. J. McDermott, Louisville, had been selected as Judges and the great intellectual battle was on, R. Foster's subject, "The Influence of the Physical World upon Mind," was a fit subject on which the young orator could display his impassioned eloquence, and right well did he do it. Miss Ida May Duke came next with "Discontent, The Motor Power to Action," which she handled in a masterly manner. Her beauty of face and figure, queenly grace and great power of expression all combined to make it a beautiful oration. Miss Tula Pendleton then in her own sweet way sang a selection from the Chimes of Normandy and was cheered to the echo. W. H. Rhoads, on "Pleasure and Pain" was very forcible both in thought and delivery, and made a very favorable impression on the audience. Miss Ella Duncan, of McHenry, sang, "He Was a Prince." This was her first effort in Hartford and completely captivated the audience. W. H. Barnes' "Our Social and Economic Future," was an ingenious discussion of a popular subject and a masterpiece of delivery. The beautiful chorus, "The Old Calender," was then rendered to the delight of all. J. L. Elmore's "Among the Heights," was grand in thought, next to faultless in diction and beautiful in delivery. Mrs. Nannie Spalding sang "Thinking," by White. It was only one more laurel for her bow and another link that binds to her more firmly still those of Hartford's people who love the beautiful in song.

JAMES LEONARD ELMORE.

Z. H. Shultz's "The Fate of Reformers" was a masterpiece of thought, coupled with good language and smooth delivery.

After a short consultation, the judges, through Judge Johnson, proceeded to award the prizes. He made an elegant little speech, complimenting the efforts of all the contestants, and regretting that it was impossible to award a prize to each and every one. He thanked Dr. Alexander on behalf of himself and associates for the honor he had conferred upon them in his invitation to choose the most meritorious from such an array of rare talent. He again turned to the class and paused. All was silence, deep silence. Every head bent forward, for all realized that the next word spoken would be the name of the winner. "Mr. W. H. Barnes will come forward and receive $50 in gold," said Judge Johnson, and as the young man arose and stepped forward the audience gave vent to their pent up enthusiasm in wild applause. "Miss Duke," that was all that could be heard; the young lady came forward to receive the second prize, $25 in gold, and the crowd thundered their deafening applause once more.

J. L. Elmore on behalf of the defeated contestants arose and in a few well chosen, manly and elegant words assured all that no ill-will ranked in the bosom of the fallen, for they had been defeated by a noble foe. Thus ended the ablest and most brilliant conflict of mind against mind ever witnessed in the Green River Country. This was a proud night for Dr. Alexander. His great heart swelled with emotion as he came forward to thank the audience and the distinguished judges for their kindness, saying that he had rather be one of these young soldiers (pointing to the contestants) than to be the victor at a Waterloo.

The Hartford Orchestra, composed of Miss Lizzie Moore, Marvin and L. B. Bean, Henry Hardwick, Jesse Bean, Lon Renter and E. P. Moore, rendered valuable assistance in the way of some excellent music. There is not an amateur orchestra in this part of the State that can excel this band of young musicians.

PREPARATORY DEPARTMENT.

Tuesday night, May 31. The ability and success with which the Preparatory Department of the College has been conducted, has been the theme of remark on all sides, and Tuesday night's exercises only the more firmly impressed the people that Miss Katie Coombes in charge of the Primary and Miss Rosa Werner in charge of the Intermediate Department, have done good work for Hartford's little folks. The evening's exercises were opened with an appropriate address by little Miss Rosa Thomas. The Drill of the Young Patriots was very beautiful indeed. An Autumn Song by thirty-three of the little folks was greatly enjoyed. We should be glad to mention every part, for all parts deserve it, but space forbids. The recitations and songs were all exceedingly good. The Solo by Sam Cox, the one by Florence Morton, the Wonder Song, the Vocal Duet by Corinne Cox and Randall Collins, the Dude Brigade, the Fan Drill, the Chorus, the Parody on "Ten Little Indians," were among the distinguishing features. These two excellent teachers, Misses Werner and Coombes, have reason to be proud of their pupils, their pupils of them, and the people proud of both.

CRITICAL LITERATURE.

Wednesday night, June 1. The class in Critical Literature in charge of Prof. J. W. Lytle came out Wednesday night, and though all recognized the ability of the young ladies and gentlemen composing the class, yet the most sanguine expectations of their friends were more than fulfilled. Rev. G. J. Bean conducted religious exercises, and the programme was presented as follows: Solo—Miss Ella Duncan. U. C. Barnett—Wherein Did the Grecians Excel? Emma Jay Fair—The Value of Criticism. Louis N. Burns—The Influence of French Literature. Stella Thomas—The Windows of the Soul. Solo, For You, by Sidney Smith—M. Nannie Spalding. Ledra R. Barnett—Dead, Though Scattered Sovereigns. R. E. L. Simmerman—The Season of Success. Solo—Miss Sallie Case. Sallie Crawford—Drink Deep at Nature's Fountain. R. D. Walker—A Glimpse into the Future. It was a great feast throughout, but it remained for the inimitable "Bob" to bring down the house.

ANNUAL ADDRESS.

Last night was the time set apart for the Annual Address to the R. E. C. and Adolphian Literary Societies, and a very interesting programme was presented. Instrumental Duet—Misses Jessie Ford and Ida Duke. Invocation—Rev. J. S. Coleman, D. D. Annual Address: Men and Women—Rev. J. H. Boyet, D. D. Chorus.

The address throughout was beautiful in thought and language and was delivered in that easy, attractive style that has made the speaker so popular here. The great truths so forcibly presented will no doubt find lodgment in the hearts of the young people who heard them, and will bear rich fruit in the future, making their lives more successful and more glorious than they could have been had not this feast of good things been theirs to enjoy. We only regret that space and time forbade our presenting the leading topics of the great address.

CONFERRING DEGREES.

To-night is Commencement with programme as follows: Invocation—Rev. E. E. Pate. Solo: Only A Year—Mrs. Nannie Spalding. Salutatory: "The Paths of Glory Lead but to the Grave"—Z. H. Shultz.

Conferring degrees on the graduates, Ida May Duke, Ph. B., Hartford; Emma Jay Fair, B. S., Hartford; Stella Thomas, B. S., Hartford; Jas. Leonard Elmore, B. S., Waller; Alexander C. Foster, B. S., Lufkin, Tex.; Zebulon H. Shultz, Ph. B., Sulphur Springs; William Henry Rhoads, Ph. B., Metropolis, Ill.; William H. Barnes, Ph. B., Hartford; Abram Francis Stanley, B. A., Rochester; Charles Emmett Cook, B. A., Habit; William Foster, Jr., A. B., Hartford. Honorary, W. P. Arnold, Ph. D., President of College at Flemingsburg, Ky.

Valedictory: "In the Still Air Music Lies Unheard; in the Rough Marble, Beauty Hides Unseen," Miss Ida May Duke.

Thus will end the most prosperous year in the whole history of Hartford College crowning with eminent success, the tireless efforts of Dr. Alexander and his corps of noble teachers.

The Hartford Orchestra deserves special mention for their excellent music throughout the week. So, also, of Mrs. D. E. Thomas, Miss Eva Morton and others for their able work at the piano.

The Farmers of Ohio county who intend buying Machines will bear in mind that the McCormick broke the great Machine Combine last year.

PATESVILLE.

May 30.—T. M. Wheatley G. A. R., met at the Corley graveyard to-day and decorated the graves of N. Hatfield, C. C. Coon and John Ashworth in the presence of from 5 to 7 hundred people. All of the services were conducted in a very nice and appropriate manner. The speakers engaged for the occasion failed to appear, but the vast crowd was addressed by Revs. C. Voyles, Henry Craig and Post Commander, J. A. Clark, in a very pleasing and agreeable manner. The Patesville Brass Band furnished the music, to the credit of themselves and delight of all present.

Deputy U. S. Marshal, C. L. Pate, spent a few days in Hartford this week and took in the Decoration at No Creek Monday, where he met R. A. Anderson and Sam Lake, whom he had not seen since the close of the Civil War. Mr. Pate is an agreeable gentleman and we were glad to have him call while here.

Stant Edson, (colored,) died of consumption at his home in Hayti last Monday night. He was honest, industrious and well thought of by both white and black. For ten years he had been in the employ of J. W. Ford & Co., and they say he was one of the most useful men they have ever had.

Dr. J. S. Coleman left Hartford at 7 o'clock Tuesday morning, drove fifteen miles, spoke two hours, took one hour's intermission, spoke two hours more, drove back over the fifteen miles, attended the entertainment of the little folks at the Court House at night, married a couple and retired at twelve o'clock. Who can beat that record?

Sheriff Taylor, in charge of Alfred Hudson and Archie Cain, left for Calhoun Monday evening. It will be remembered that these young men were complicated in the recent shooting match at Calhoun. Appeal to all Good Married Men of Hartford.

School closes, all boys gone home, entertainments are over, no more Friday night societies, weather too hot to play cinque, mosquito time too near to sit outdoors, what will become of our young ladies? Married men, remember, and do something for our fair damsels, keep them in good health and humor, so the Town Father does not get hold of you and bring you all over the State. Entertain our ladies, give them amusement, hire a buggy, rig, or if that is not sufficient, get a wagon and take the girls riding until our Hon. Professor brings back to Hartford his noble men, Zimmermen, Truemen or some other men.

PIEFACE'S AUNT.

Booth-Hardwick.

Mr. W. L. Booth, Owensboro, and Miss Maggie Hardwick, of this city, were quietly married late Tuesday night. The arrangements had all been perfected beforehand and all the parties attended the exercises at the Court House. They delayed until the crowd had passed when they went to the house of Mrs. Sallie Hardwick when in the presence of a brother of Mr. Booth, and the members of the Hardwick family, Dr. J. S. Coleman pronounced the words that made them one. Mr. Booth is an energetic young business man of Owensboro while his bride is one of Hartford's most popular young ladies. May success and happiness be theirs. They left for Owensboro Wednesday morning.

Defeated.

The much talked of ball game between McHenry and Hartford, occurred last Saturday on the grounds of the former. It was a fine game till the seventh inning, when the McHenrys made 13 scores and the visitors no longer had any hope of being "in it" for their opponents were clear "out of sight." The score was 24 to 10 in favor of the McHenrys. Dr. Baird umpired the game to the satisfaction of all parties. It is to be hoped that our boys will do better when they play hereafter, and they will. We are glad to state that marshals were on the field and no disorder was allowed. The McHenry boys know how to entertain their visitors, they completely captivated our boys by their kind treatment.

DECORATION DAY.

A Large Crowd and a Pleasant Time at No Creek.

Last Monday morning was warm, sultry and cloudy with a little rain, and it seemed that the day would be a very unfavorable one for the exercises of the great holiday. But the clouds soon cleared away and the people began to gather, bringing loads of provisions. Rev. J. P. Pell, of Springfield, Ind., and a former preacher in this part of the country, and Chaplin of the 12th Kentucky, was present and opened the exercises of the day at the church. After which the procession marched to the Carson graveyard where the graves of the sleeping and honored dead were strewn with beautiful flowers. The procession returned at twelve o'clock, and a most elegant and sumptuous dinner was spread and the entire crowd of five hundred, or more, people partook thereof to their satisfaction.

Dinner being over the crowd, or as many as were lucky to find seats in the church, listened to an excellent talk from Comrade Pell. He was followed by Comrade Milligan, who very pathetically presented the case of Mrs. Carter and aged ex-Union nurse and spy now in destitute circumstances, to the old soldiers and others, and twenty-five dollars was raised in the time it would take to count it.

Judge L. P. Little was then introduced and made a speech that went straight home to the heart of the entire audience. Judge W. T. Owen then addressed the people in a very dignified and masterly manner, convincing all of his devout, earnest patriotism.

It was now three o'clock and a procession was formed which marched to the Mill graveyard, where the usual decorations were made. At four o'clock the crowd began slowly to disperse, seeming to regret that the day with its pleasant associations had passed so quickly. The old soldiers as they once more bade each other goodbye seemed to realize that perhaps ere another May 30th has come some of them will have answered the roll-call on the great field beyond.

NOTES.

Commander Sorrells acquitted himself with great credit.

Judge Little's speech was specially appropriate, but that's just the Judge's style.

Judge Owen's love of his country shone in every one of his beautiful sentences.

Comrade Milligan's speech was no failure, as the liberal collection demonstrated.

Our representative failed to hear the speaking at the graveyards, at the time of decoration, but we understand it was good.

Rev. Pell was highly pleased to meet his old acquaintances, and they were just as glad to meet him. Everybody enjoyed his speech.

It goes without saying that our country is one of holidays and surely none is more appropriate and fitting than that which calls the people together to strew flowers of remembrance and love over the graves of brave soldiers. Nothing is so well calculated to beget love of country and countrymen, for, as Judge Little said, where is the man who can go into a graveyard to strew flowers on a soldier's grave, and then ask whether he wore the blue or the gray?
